

THE HISTORY OF THE CONSERVATION EDUCATION CENTER began in the early 1990's. Steve Garst, Joe Halbur, and Dave Olson and others were involved in some of the early brainstorming about the possibility of a regional environmental education facility located in Swan Lake State Park. The 1999 five-year plan for Carroll County Conservation included the first concrete proposal, and a fundraising drive was initiated shortly thereafter.

Construction began in 2003. Doors opened in late October of 2004 with programs and room rentals beginning January 2005. A grand opening was held in April 2005. The price tag of the Center was $1.8 million, with the local community putting in several thousand additional hours of volunteer help and hundreds of thousands of dollars of local in-kind donations. The funding sources of the Education Center demonstrate the regional support of the project, with 47% of the funding coming from outside Carroll County and 17% from outside Iowa. Only 15% of the project was financed through Carroll County taxpayers. The remainder was from local support.

THE CARROLL COUNTY CONSERVATION FOUNDATION is a nonprofit group of interested citizens that meets regularly throughout the year to provide input regarding fundraising and educational programming at the Center. The financial support of the Foundation plays a critical part in meeting our mission by providing needed funds to improve our programs.
