

Prairie Smoke

Pasque Flower

Wild Geranium

Golden Alexander

Lavender Hyssop

Foxglove Beardtongue

Rough Blazing Star

Pale Purple Coneflower

Butterfly Milkweed

Lead Plant

Wild Bergamot

Lance-leaf Coreopsis

Rattlesnake Master

Ohio Spiderwort

Hoary Vervain

Purple Prairie Clover

Silky Aster

Old Field Goldenrod

Little Bluestem

Prairie Dropseed

When gardening with native plants, we often focus on the flowers. But don't forget to incorporate native grasses, sedges, and rushes. These plants can help provide structure and support for the flowers. Grasses, sedges, and rushes also support insects and are important host plants. They help preserve and build soil and can outcompete weeds.

Long-beaked Sedge

